Recording:

What You Get

- An engineer dedicated to capturing YOUR sound and focused on nurturing your creativity.
- A safe space specifically designed to cultivate your creativity and to record your work.
- Assurance that when you walk through the door, no time will be wasted on prep work or troubleshooting. Everything will be ready to go, so creativity will not be impeded.

Before the Recording Session

- We will have a zoom meeting or a phone call prior to the recording session to discuss goals and expectations of the session
 - i.e. what instruments/vocals will be recorded, number of songs to be completed, type of sound you're going for, preferences, etc.
- If there is any previously recorded material that is needed for the recording, it should be sent at least 24hrs before the recording session. Multitrack .wav files are preferable over 2-track stereo files.

Mixing

What You Get

- A polished professional sounding product in a .wav file and .mp3 file format.
- A guaranteed date of delivery.
- Five free revisions ($20 for every revision afterwards).
- The entire Pro Tools session for $100

Requirements

- We will have a zoom meeting or a phone call prior to the start of mixing to discuss the vision of the final mix
- If possible, multitracks (.wav files) should be sent instead of 2-track files
 - Tracks should be clean (no distortion or noise)
